

Marqeta Announces New Credit Customer Internet Travel Solutions (ITS), Building Momentum for Key New Product

February 13, 2024

Internet Travel Solutions chose Marqeta's unified credit card platform to launch a scalable, embedded Travel & Expense credit solution for corporate customers

OAKLAND, Calif.--(BUSINESS WIRE)--Feb. 13, 2024-- Marqeta (NASDAQ: MQ), the global modern card issuing platform enabling some of the world's most innovative embedded finance solutions, today announced its new customer, Internet Travel Solutions (ITS), a leading provider of travel management software that will utilize Marqeta's comprehensive credit card platform to launch a multi-use travel and expense (T&E) commercial credit card for the mid-sized business market.

Business travel in the US is rebounding to pre-pandemic levels, with \$237 billion dollars in spend expected in 2024, almost 90% of the total in 2019. With this recent growth and the profound shift to digital services during the pandemic, businesses seek flexible expense management tools that match their evolving needs. ITS has strategically partnered with Marqeta to build customizable credit card solutions that help businesses streamline expenses, access capital and boost operational efficiency. Marqeta's credit card platform gives ITS control over the customer experience, supported by a unified, modern tech stack and program management capabilities, enabling them to develop credit solutions tailored to individual business needs.

"ITS is redefining how we manage corporate travel expenses, and with Marqeta's highly configurable credit card platform, we can go beyond conventional offerings to meet the specific needs of our corporate clients," said Rick Kumpf, CEO of ITS. "Building our T&E credit card on Marqeta's platform gives us access to a full suite of credit card capabilities and the flexibility and control to develop, launch, and scale branded credit solutions that seamlessly integrate into our digital experience."

ITS is an industry leader and innovator in travel and expense management. Its corporate card program solutions, EasyCard, aim to enable businesses to fulfill the diverse payment service needs of their employees, spanning across all roles and functions. With Marqeta, ITS has access to real-time card issuing, live transaction data, and spend controls that allow them to create dynamic credit card offerings and rewards. Additionally, Marqeta allows ITS the flexibility and extensibility to launch on a payments platform that can support and grow their products as they expand over time.

"As corporate travel ramps up, it will be critical for businesses to have access to individualized credit solutions that remove friction for users and simplify expense management capabilities," said Todd Pollak, Chief Revenue Officer, Marqeta. "Marqeta is proud to partner with ITS, a pioneer in travel technology, delivering on our promise to provide dynamic and embedded credit experiences that transform customer loyalty and establish lasting relationships."
